William Casey, Director
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, D.C. 20505

Dear Mr. Casey:

The Western States Information Network (WSIN) is a federally funded program which provides the five Pacific Ocean states with a supportive, secondary enforcement service by responding to the narcotic intelligence needs of law enforcement in Alaska, California, Hawaii, Oregon and Washington. These support services include a centralized intelligence data base, communication service, analytical products, equipment, investigative assistance funds and training.

WSIN's second annual training conference is being held at the Woodlake Inn in Sacramento, California on June 6-8, 1984. It is anticipated that approximately 350 narcotic intelligence officers from some of our 668 member agencies will attend.

[redacted] who I understand is your Congressional Liaison Representative, became well known and respected by the Western law enforcement community [redacted]

STAT

We would very much like to have him speak to the General Assembly on June 6 on any intelligence related subject and also to participate in the rest of the program if he wishes.

Should you have any questions, I may be contacted at 800-824-7868. An early reply would be appreciated.

Sincerely,
